14. HWB-CHILDRENS SUMMIT

Esme Chilton, Chair of the Children's Trust Board and Chief Executive of 'Future Creative' opened the meeting and outlined the presentation which was to be presented by Mark Cunnington, Interim Associate Pathway, Children & Maternity Services. She added that the Children's Trust Board were jointly hosting the 'Children's Summit' and that the best outcomes would come from using resources effectively with multi-agency working.

Dr. Tony Martin, Chair of the Thanet Health and Wellbeing Board who was to take the summit forward, continued by outlining the format of the afternoon's proceedings and emphasised the importance of the summit and the integrated working arrangements which were essential to the aspirations in transforming the health of people living and working in Thanet. He added that they would work with local people, communities and partners to deliver high quality services that are patient-focused, safe and innovative. We want our local communities to be ambitious about their own health and to challenge the commission for best possible care solutions.

The two Boards' then received a presentation from Martin Cunnington, Interim Associate Pathway, Children & Maternity Services on 'Improving outcomes for children and young people - A national challenge & local opportunities (presentation attached).

Following the presentation, Andrew Scott-Clark, Director of Public Health Improvement, Kent County Council said that currently, Thanet statistics were all 'red' and that by effective joint commissioning and improvements being made in Thanet, that it would likely see improvements in Kent as a whole.

The format of the meeting proceeded in a 'workshop' style and outcomes '2' and '4' were discussed. The information gathered from each table is to be collated and the results of the workshop brought back to a future meeting.

Meeting concluded : 4.15 pm

Improving outcomes for children and young people – A national challenge & local opportunities

Martin Cunnington
Interim Associate Pathway, Children & Maternity Services

Challenge from Sir David Nicholson

- “We must ensure patients’ and their families’ voices are heard and used to help us develop the insight to improve outcomes and guarantee no community is left behind or disadvantaged. We want to make the NHS the best customer service in the world and throughout the NHS, we must all strive to design and deliver care based on the needs and choices of each individual patient”.

Bringing the initiatives together

We can view the needs of a child and family through different lenses or we can work on the themes that unite us...

Bringing the initiatives together

Common themes

- Whole system change linked to personalisation.
- Joint commissioning.
- Integrated services and integrated assessment and planning.
- Personal budgets.
- Improved information, transparency and accountability.
- Workforce training and development.
- Improved data and key performance indicators.

Bringing the initiatives together

Commissioning Levels

- Individual level commissioning
 - Parents and young people
 - Co-production between parents and young people and lead professionals and/or social workers
- Operational/community level commissioning
 - Focus on localities and or care groups / care pathways
 - CCG, District Council or County Council level
- Strategic commissioning
 - Set strategic direction with strategic plan, agree pace of change, allocate resources, manage whole system performance, well governed, cyclical, seasonal

Bringing the initiatives together

Integrated services

“The provision of integrated services around the needs of patients occurs when the right values and behaviours are allowed to prevail and there is a will to do something different. We need to move beyond arguing for integration to making it happen.”

Professor Steve Field, NHS Future Forum

Kent multi-agency commissioning framework for CYP with SLCN

Core principles to delivering child and family centred approach to integrated working

- No decision about me, without me.
- Tell my story once.
- Parent carers / young people and professionals both have active roles to play in the assessment of need, identification and implementation of the shared goals.
- Shared goals that a team around a child / family can work on.
- Shared understanding of key working functions.

Kent multi-agency commissioning framework for CYP with SLCN

Core principles to delivering child and family centred approach to integrated working

- Clear and accessible information that is available to parent carers and young people early in the process.
- Shared values.
- Open and transparent process.
- Joint workforce training and development, with parent carers empowered to deliver key aspects of the training programme jointly with professionals.

Kent multi-agency commissioning framework for CYP with SLCN

Core principles to delivering child and family centred approach to integrated working

- The training offered to professionals linked to a particular child / young person should also be delivered to the parent carers.

Top 10 tips for effective joint commissioning

- Recognise and value the different lenses, but build on what unites us.
- Common language on outcomes and key performance indicators and shared data sets.
- Promote co-production.
- Evidence based commissioning.
- Whole system approaches to meeting current and future need.
- Develop multi-agency strategy to the promotion of choice and control and the role out of personal budgets.

Top 10 tips for effective joint commissioning

- ❑ Agree core principles for integrated working.
- ❑ Develop new multi-agency approaches to workforce training and development.
- ❑ Maximise the opportunities to use existing buildings, pool capital funding to promote co-location.
- ❑ Local Offer is an organic process that changes over time and is aligned to the joint commissioning duty.

CHAPTER 12: THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

The history of the United States is a complex and multifaceted story that spans centuries. It begins with the arrival of Native Americans on the continent, followed by the exploration and settlement by European powers. The United States was founded in 1776, and its history is marked by significant events such as the American Revolution, the Civil War, and the Great Depression. The country has grown from a small colony to a global superpower, and its history continues to shape the world today.
